Message from Kurt Bluemel

Synergy may be defined as two or more agents working together to produce a result not obtainable by any of the agents independently. You've heard that before. In our collective field, we not only hear that we actually live that.

I want to share with you why synergy has been a driving force for us for over 45 years.

Each of us alone is excellent at what we do. You have planning, designing and installation down to a science. We have selection, developing and growing down to a science. But, for whom do we make our plant selections and for whom are we growing all of these well-studied plants? Why do we make such a concerted effort to find the right plant for the right soil and the right climate? It is for the same reasons that you carefully plan and toil over drawings. It is for the same reasons that you exact your site survey and install your design effectively. It is passion and professional integrity that results in customer satisfaction.

Our driving force is your driving force: mutual dedication to service excellence.

We have that in common. We do it, as you do it, for your clients. We are well prepared for you and you are well prepared for them. Synergy. We grow for customers exactly like you. We're glad to have you with us!

Best,

Kurt Bluemel
